

November Platforms
Brooklyn Society for Ethical Culture
53 Prospect Park West at 2nd St.

Children of Imprisoned Parents Speak for Themselves
With Davian and Kai Reynolds
Sunday, November 1, 11am

Davian and Kai Reynolds are high school students who grew up with their mother in prison. Both members of our sister congregation Church of Gethsemane, they will speak about how children of incarcerated parents are treated in the foster care system and face other adversity – adversity inspiring their own passion to make a difference in the world.

Fighting Fair! Ethical Approaches to Disagreement with Lisel Burns
Sunday, November 8, 11am

The vitriolic debate we scorn from the right can also appear among progressives, in our family life, and across politics. How can we develop practices of our own that contribute to a civil, ethical culture that isn't overwhelmed by antagonisms, religious, emotional or political? Lisel Burns is Leader Emeritus of Brooklyn Ethical.

Wamponoag
with Remi Gay
Sunday, November 15, 11am

Brooklyn Ethical's own intergenerational festival of appreciation inspired by Native American tradition. We take the time to remember our connection to the earth, to give thanks, and to tell old tales about the wonder of nature. Sponsored by the Children's Assembly. Remi Gay is a former board officer and long-time member of Brooklyn Ethical.

On Faith
with Rev. Osagyefo Sekou
Sunday, November 22, 11am

How have religious, secular, and spiritual traditions defined faith as part of their ethics of living a just life? We will explore the question posed by the ancients: "What does it mean to step out on nothing with the expectation that you will land on something?" Rev. Sekou is the 2009 Brooklyn Ethical Fellow.

Colloquy: A Reflection on Gratitude with Tasha Paley
Sunday, November 29, 11am

Colloquies are an opportunity for deep group reflection on a theme to support and inspire us in our quest to create a life of meaning, joy, and responsibility.

Sunday Platforms are a long-standing tradition within Ethical Culture to bring light and heat to matters of ethical concern in a formal setting. Every Sunday, platforms examine major ethical issues and explore the personal and social aspects of living an ethical life.